

Cleo Communications and IQMS

Meeting the needs for Secure Communications across many industries

Partner Spotlight

IQMS is an authorized Cleo reseller. For over three years, Cleo and IQMS have worked together to provide leading-edge solutions for the automotive, medical, plastics, packaging, and consumer products industries.

Cleo Communications helps IQMS customers to effectively meet requirements for secure communications. Cleo's LexiCom and VersaLex (VLTrader) software provide certified, interoperable secure communications.

LexiCom is an easy-to-use, yet powerful client software communications package. LexiCom offers pre-configured connections to many major trading networks including Wal*Mart, Target, Home Depot, DaimlerChrysler, Honda, and many others. The software is eDrummond certified for AS2, AS3, and ebXML Messaging Service (ebMS, HL7, CDC-PHIN, STAR) and also supports FTP, FTP/S, OFTP, SSH FTP, FTP/PGP, MQ Series®, HTTP, and HTTP/S connections. This allows users to meet the requirements of many trading partners in one solution.

VLTrader is a server-level solution that allows companies to implement Internet communications both up and down the supply chain, with a larger network of trading partners. It offers additional features including advanced reporting, integration with back-end databases, and trading partner management tools.

"Cleo compliments the eCommerce module in our EnterpriseIQ ERP package perfectly, performing the communication services between suppliers and trading partners," explains Eileen Roach, eCommerce Product Manager for IQMS.

Brian Hampton, President and CEO of Cleo Communications adds, "LexiCom and VLTrader's ease of use and intuitive design make it easy for IQMS customers to extend communications over the Internet, not only to meet the secure communications requirements of major trading hubs, but also to leverage the cost and time savings benefits of the Internet."
